AMUSEMENTS

B. F. Keith's.

The program at Keith's this week is varied one and entertaining from opening number to final curtain. Grace La Rue has the happy faculty of selecting songs of the popular variety, and each number gained her new friends and abundant applause.

For the wind up of the evening Gladys Hanson presented the stirring appeal "Liberty Aflame," first heard here last season as given by Julia Arthur. Miss Hanson is a finished elocutionist with a splendid voice and had little trouble making a great big hit. The patriotic finale aroused tumultuous enthusiasm.

The Civil Service in the patriotic finale aroused tumultuous enthusiass.

Walter De Leon and Mary Davies in a little skit entitled "Behind the Front" deserve praise for the originalty of their offering and its unusually clever presentation. Dooley and Sales are back again with "Will Yer Jim," and were given a great reception. Mazie King and E. E. Marini opened the bill with a clever dancing act that was augmented with beautiful scenery. Lieut. B. C. Hilliam of the Canadian forces home on furlough, did not need his uniform to make his number a big go, as he is a finished entertainer, both as a pianist and story teller. The old grocery story number entitled "Rubeville" made its usual hit, helped along a great to grant deal by the comedy work of Harry B. Watson and really good singing. Elsa Ruegger on the cello with the assistance of Zhay Clark, harpest, and Edmund Lichenstein were well received. The Hearst-Pathe pictures were interesting.

Gayety. by the number of encores the feminine principals received last night. The company, under the name of "Oh, Girl," put on a show that has not a dull moment. Four capable comedians are in the cast Four capable comedians are in the cast and their characterizations range from straight comedy through the "rube" and the stage Hebrew. The feminine contingent has some exceptional singers and dancers. A slight plot runs through a skit entitled "The High Cost of Flirting," by Junie McCree.

The work of Joseph Mills and Monroe Lockwood as "rube" detectives is the outstanding comedy feature, but Clare Evans, the straight comedian and Irving Sands, as a grotesque Hebrew run them a close second. Vivian Lawrence easily took first place among the girls in the rendition of numerous snappy songs and dances. Mammie the girls in the rendition of numerous snappy songs and dances. Mammie Mitchell and Mile. Babette also came in for a share of the applause for their singing of popular songs. Gladys Brockwell, in her latest photoplay, "The Devil's Wheel," is the feature at the Leader all this week. It is a striking production of Paris Apache life. To the average individual there is an almost indescribable fascination about the underworld of Paris and its gambling tables, especially when that life which most of us know only through the medium of the printed word or the screen, is the basis of an engrossing plot such as that of "The Devil's Wheel." The photoplay unfolds a swift-moving, colorful story dealing with interesting, people. The Parisian atmosphere is well sustained throughout. The part of Blanche excellently fits Miss Brockwell. A Fox Sunshine comedy is shown also.

Gore Amendment to Agriculture Measure for $2.50 Wheat Occupying Debate.

When the Senate met today further consideration of the Borland eight-hour amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill appeared to be improbable before adjournment tonight. The Senate still had before it the fore motion to suspend the rules to make in order a proposed amendment to guarantee $2.50 a bushel for wheat. It seemed probable that the debate on this matter would run throughout the day.

However, Senator Sheppard and other opponents of the Borland amendment were on the watch. They will make every effort to have the Borland amendment stricken out at the earliest opportunity.

O. C. Merrill, forestry bureau, speaking for Secretaries Baker, Houston and Lane, who drew the draft of the bill the committee is considering, said it was better to count on reduction of rates to the consumer than on obtaining revenue for the government.

Representative Sims of Tennessee, the committee chairman, was insistent that the legislation should be revenue producing. He said the people now are heavily taxed for the war, that additional money is needed and that the government should not shut itself of from such a profitable revenue source.
